

Malaysian Family Physician 2006. Volume 1, Number 1

1982, Volume 5, Number 3.

Editorial. Ho Tak Ming.	4
Epidemiology of endemic diseases in the plantations in Peninsular Malaysia. Eddy KC Ho.	7
Malaria, with special reference to rubber and oil palm estates. Donald R O'Holohan.	13
Filariasis. JW Mak.	23
Ng Tian Seng. Scrub typhus in oil palm estates. Ng Tian Seng.	27
Leptospirosis in rubber and oil palm estates of Peninsular Malaysia. Dora SK Tan.	29
Oil palm thorn injuries. CV David, R Pathmanathan.	33
Paraquat poisoning. Wong Kok Thong, Ng Tian Seng.	35
Samsu poisoning. Ng Tian Seng.	37
A review of the nutritional status of the Indian community in Peninsular Malaysia. Mirnalini Kandiah.	39
Intestinal parasitic infections in Malaysian estates. CK Ow Yang.	45
Medical problems in an oil palm estate. Chua Wan Tiong, Lim Chim Hoo.	49
Psychosocial problems of estate workers and amenities provided by a progressive estate towards their alleviation. Lai Mun Seng.	55
Headache. A study of 50 Malaysian nurses. CT Tan.	61
Dysmenorrhoea. A gynaecological problem in general practice. S Kandasamy.	63
Screening for gynaecological malignancies. HC Ong.	67
Soil-transmitted intestinal worms. Ng Peng Khin.	71
College news.	73
The new general practice. New directions needed? Ho Tak Ming.	76
Add life to years. Tan Chee Khoon.	79
From flying tiger to gourmet. Ho Tak Ming.	81
Can you spot it.	87
General practice around the world.	89